Filmmaker

Professor Marjorie Silver and Doug Block

Have an idea for a movie, a documentary, but don't know how to take it to the next level? The perfect gift for you or someone you care about. Internationally acclaimed, award-winning documentary filmmaker, Doug Block (51 Birch Street, The Kids Grow Up, 112 Weddings), helped enable first-time filmmaker, Jon Foy, to win the 2011 Sundance Film Festival Prize for best director of a documentary (Resurrect Dead: The Mystery of the Toynbee Tiles)! Doug has generously donated a one hour consultation [1] with you or the person of your choice to advise the would-be filmmaker on any aspect of producing and distributing a film. How are we so lucky to have this donation? It likely has something to do with Doug being the spouse of our own Professor Marjorie Silver! (includes DVD of 51 Birch Street).
